The number of bales weighed and shipped out of the compress is 8,020; hauled from Bryan by truck, 690 bales; stored in local warehouses, 1,879 bales; round bales handled were 800, equivalent to 400 square bales. These figures include all cotton arriving in Bryan, whether hauled by railroads, trucks or wagons. Brazos county ginnings in the dry year of 1925 were 8,935 bales, while 7,291 bales were ginned in 1921. The total ginnings this year may go to 10,000 bales, it is said, but the crop is one of the most difficult to estimate made in this county.

HENRY SEALE ASKS SUPPORT FOR MEASURE

Will Be of Benefit To San Antonio Trail

SENTIMENT CHANGES

In Favor of Issue Found By Him Recently

"There has been a great change in sentiment in favor of the proposed bond issue for good roads in Brazos county in the north and east sections of the county where the people are interested in the improvement of the Old San Antonio Road," said Henry Seale, banker and cattleman Wednesday, "and I believe the election will go in favor of good roads. It looks to me now, from what I have myself learned in talks with men who have changed and from what I have heard from others checking sentiment in the county as though the issue would run 50-50 or a little better in the county outside Bryan and College Station. If the vote is gotten out in Bryan I think the issue will win."

Mr. Seale stated that for a number of days he had been talking with citizens living along the San Antonio trail about giving land for the right of way required by the state highway commission before the old road could be improved and pointing out that the success of the bond issue would benefit the old road improvement in that it would mean bridges over both the Big and Little Brazos rivers over which both the old trail and Highway No. 21 would be routed.

Mr. Seale stated that after his conference with members of the state highway commission last week, when an immediate survey of the old trail was ordered, he had been convinced that the improvement of the old road and Highway No. 21 were not opposed to each other but that the old trail improvement would be accelerated by the success of the bond issue election. In talking with old trail residents who had been opposed to the bond issue because they believed that it would interfere with the improvement of the old road, he said he had pointed this out and had suggested that they think the matter over again before deciding to vote against the issue and, in a sense, against the project in which they were most interested.

Mr. Seale said that the survey of the old road was going forward and that all the residents he had seen had agreed to give the land necessary for the 100 foot right of way. He was of the opinion that very shortly all the demands of the highway commission in this respect would be met and that the improvement of the old road would begin in due time, and that if the bond issue carried, as now seemed very likely, the day when permanent bridges on the old road across the Big and Little Brazos rivers would not be far distant.

In order to vote in this election, however, you are required to be a tax-payer and by the term tax-payer, you are required to own property subject to taxation. If you own any real property or personal property, whether you are on the tax rolls or not, you are entitled to vote. By personal property, is meant such property as money, automobile, watch, cow, horse, hog or any movable property.

Hence, if you have a poll-tax or if you are not required to pay a poll-tax as explained above, and have any property, no matter how small its value is, you are entitled to vote at this election.

Speakers for this meeting will be announced tomorrow by John M. Lawrence, general chairman of the good roads campaign committee.

Hughes, head of the rural education department at Texas A. and M. College. The value of the free county library was discussed by Mrs. W. B. Cline of Bryan.

McLennan Co. Farmers Forced to Dairying Because Their One Crop Methods Brought Failure in Train

Answering many questions in the minds of both farmers and business men of this section regarding the problems of development, J. B. Snider of Waco, representative of the Borden Milk Company of that place, addressed an audience of local citizens and visitors from Bryan and College Station at Kurten school house on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The meeting was called to order by Prin. David Bunting who turned the program over to County Agent C. L. Beason.

Chairman of Women Calls Every Campus Woman Urging Her Not To Forget to Vote on Saturday

Dr. Walton Asks All Campus Residents To Support Bond Issue on Saturday

Mrs. E. O. Siecke who has been appointed chairman of the College district in the good roads campaign has called up every woman on the campus to remind her of her responsibilities as a voter in this important issue. Mrs. Siecke states that she feels sure that College will cast a solid vote in favor of good roads. She has appointed a committee to work with her on Saturday morning and secure every available vote. The committee consists of Mesdames C. B. Campbell, J. A. Clutter, E. P. Humbert, F. B. Clark, Langford, A. B. Conner, F. L. Thomas, D. T. Killough and Mrs. Siecke. Dr. Walton is urging every man and woman on the campus to appear at the polls Saturday, Sept. 28.

OTHER COLLEGE NEWS
Mrs. John B. Bagley made a house to house canvass of the campus enlisting people's interest in the George Griffin concert to be given at the Assembly Hall Friday evening, Sept. 27.

Echoes from abroad still reverberate through the campus. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Woolket are filled with happy recollections of a three months stay in Europe. Mr. Woolket went abroad to perfect himself in the knowledge of French and Spanish which he is teaching here. Mrs. Woolket states that her study of French and Spanish was confined exclusively to the mastering of the menu cards. The Woolket's are on the campus this year occupying the Wilcox apartment. Mrs. Woolket is teaching the fourth grade of the Consolidated school.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Roberts also of the romance languages department spent the summer in Mexico City, studying Spanish at the National University of Mexico. The Roberts said that they were neither kidnapped, nor held up nor arrested on their way to Mexico City, in spite of the anxiety and warnings of friends. Apparently the bandits knew they were from a college town and that the ransom would not be worth the trouble.

Mrs. Norman Anderson, the newly elected president of the Presbyterian group opened the year's work on Monday afternoon with an informal gathering at her home. There was no program but a little guessing game which consisted in finding the names of the books of the Bible among groups of scattered and misplaced letters. Mrs. C. B. Campbell who is a Sunday School superintendent for the campus children, reaped the reward of her teaching by outdoing the rest of the group with her knowledge of the Bible books. She was given for her proficiency a jar of stick candy which the children and grown-ups of the neighborhood helped her enjoy.

Mrs. F. E. Giesecke returned Monday night from her summer camp in New Braunfels which is now closed for the year. Among the College folks on the roster of the Giesecke camp this summer were Mrs. Frank Anderson and her sister Mrs. Canada, Mrs. Mark Francis, Mrs. H. Schmidt, Mrs. Stevener. The Giesecke camp also had the distinction of sheltering during the Becky Bradley Rogers trial in New Braunfels, Becky Rogers, her husband, Otis Rogers and Mrs. Bradley, her mother.

Little Chick Sloan who was very much missed at the opening of school by her classmates and friends is back in school after a two weeks illness.

Paving Is Ordered At Travis School

Paving of 26th street from Polk to Pierce and Pierce Street from 24th to 26th Streets, was ordered in by the city commission last night and will be the next work of this nature to be undertaken. At the present time the paving of 31st Street is being completed, as well as some left over sections in paving previously laid. The city commission also issued warrants in the sum of $25,000 to pay for the city's share of the present paving program.

WELL CONTRACT APPROVED
The city commission approved the contract given Mc Masters & Pomeroy of Pasadena to drive a new city well, and the bond made by the contractors.

College Avenue Baptist Church Revival Services

The College Avenue Baptist church will engage in a series of revival services beginning Sunday, Oct. 13. The local church forces will conduct the services. The pastor, Rev. Roy S. Hollomon, will do the preaching and W. S. Barron will direct the music. Further announcements will appear at a later date. The public is cordially invited to make their plans to attend these services. Miss Bessie Cooper of Calvert was in Bryan Tuesday to attend the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. S. M. Waldrop.

Good Roads Movement Finds More Support Among Women of Brazos As Election Day Draws Nearer

The women voters over Brazos county show a growing interest in the coming election, Saturday, Sept. 28, and to help carry the proposed bond issue for good roads to success, that gains momentum with the days," declared Mrs. A. J. Buchanan, county chairman for women today. "If earnest work will bring victory, it will come to Brazos county in this campaign, for the women are determined to put it over and the results of their good work are evident in every community in the county." Messages by telephone from many rural communities this morning to the county chairman bring added names for the list of "For the Bond Issue," and the systematic plan made to get every woman to the polls on Saturday will bring further success on voting day. When the proposed bond issue election was first announced, many of the voters among the women as well as the men, were undecided as to whether or not the plan would be best. However, in many communities, the indifference, with a negative attitude toward the progressive program for good roads at this time, expressed by some of the Brazos county women when the plan was first announced, but other women with vision and influence working in the various communities, have, in many instances, converted such indifference into outspoken approval, and a declaration to so vote on Saturday, Sept. 28. Added evidence that "a little leaven, leaveneth the whole lump." Brazos county has been divided by the general chairman for women, into the various communities and voting precincts. Lists of the women voters have been sent to the workers in the various precincts, and by this means a general contract has been made. A partial list of the women workers in the county includes the following: Mrs. P. L. Barron, Mrs. J. M. Atkins, Mrs. W. E. Graham, Mrs. Theodore Krenke, Mrs. Lawrence Koma, Mrs. Charles Niggliazzo, Miss Essie Shealy, Mrs. C. R. Saxon, Mrs. T. P. Taylor, Mrs. Paul Mikulec, Mrs. Lynn Sample, Mrs. John Berger, Mrs. Frank Borak, Mrs. Joe Regmund, Mrs. Grant McDonald, Mrs. Minnie B. Foster, Mrs. N. F. German, Mrs. S. I. Dowling, Mrs. E. W. The wedding announcement of interest to many people on the campus is one from Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Andrews of Auler, Miss., announcing the marriage of their daughter, Virginia Mayo Harris, to Mr. Thomas Jewell Harrold of Atlanta, Ga., on Friday, Aug. 30. Mrs. Harrold, who is well known on this campus as Virginia Harris, niece of Mrs. John P. Mayo, was home economics teacher at the A. and M. Consolidated school. She left College Station two years ago to go to graduate work at Columbia University, and after securing her masters degree received an appointment on the faculty of the home economics department of the University of Georgia, Athens, Ga. Mr. Harrold is plant physiologist with the Georgia Experiment Station. The wedding took place in the little village church of Miss Harris' home town, and was decorated with field flowers in harmony with the rustic simplicity of the surroundings. Miss Harris wore her great grandmother's dress for her wedding gown, and carried a shower bouquet of Terne roses which flower has since become famous by its use for the same purpose at the Coolidge-Trumbull wedding. The New Coöperation

It has been said that the secret of our Nation's success in the crisis of 1917 was the efficient mobilization of man power and resources—Army, Navy, Red Cross, Industry—every available energy, working in unison.

Community competition demands a similar strategy.

It demands the mobilization of every civic enterprise. The mobilization of every civic force which has an objective of its own—business, industrial, religious, educational, social, fraternal and individual citizenship.

With singleness of purpose, the efforts of these units must be directed into one great channel—that of linking town and country into the Greater Community.

This Is the New Cooperation

The interests, ambitions, pleasures, prosperity and everyday requirements of the area which is right at our borders, run in a parallel line with ours. Merged, we become a unit of double strength, double power—The Greater Community!

Few towns put forth the necessary effort to cover the business, industrial, religious, educational, social and fraternal requirements of this greater community area—although this way lies greatest possibilities!

It is the extra effort of developing the Greater Community that spells success.

A Town Is a Service Center

The Six Essential Services are:

1. Employment
2. Merchandising and Marketing
3. Transportation and Communication
4. Social and Recreational
5. Educational
6. Religious

Figures prove that the number of those who go out of town to do business is small compared to those who should—but do not—come into town to do business.

Hence, the new cooperation is the answer to the challenge—"Fortune awaits one Community in ten."

"Insurance That Insures, Service That Serves"

The New Coöperation

It has been said that the secret of our Nation's success in the crisis of 1917 was the efficient mobilization of man power and resources—Army, Navy, Red Cross, Industry—every available energy, working in unison.

Community competition demands a similar strategy.

It demands the mobilization of every civic enterprise. The mobilization of every civic force which has an objective of its own—business, industrial, religious, educational, social, fraternal and individual citizenship.

With singleness of purpose, the efforts of these units must be directed into one great channel—that of linking town and country into the Greater Community.

This Is the New Cooperation

The interests, ambitions, pleasures, prosperity and everyday requirements of the area which is right at our borders, run in a parallel line with ours. Merged, we become a unit of double strength, double power—The Greater Community!

Few towns put forth the necessary effort to cover the business, industrial, religious, educational, social and fraternal requirements of this greater community area—although this way lies greatest possibilities!

It is the extra effort of developing the Greater Community that spells success.

A Town Is a Service Center

The Six Essential Services are:

1. Employment
2. Merchandising and Marketing
3. Transportation and Communication
4. Social and Recreational
5. Educational
6. Religious

Figures prove that the number of those who go out of town to do business is small compared to those who should—but do not—come into town to do business.

Hence, the new cooperation is the answer to the challenge—"Fortune awaits one Community in ten."

A Clean Campaign

The final statement to the public from the good roads campaign committee, in the shape of formal publicity, is being made today in this issue of the Eagle. In this statement are given more than a score of reasons, all primarily good, why the bond issue and the good roads program should be supported.

This campaign is nearing its close. The issue will be decided Saturday when the residents of the county will go to the polls. At that time the voters will decide whether or not this county shall issue bonds in the sum of $1,100,000 for the building of two main arteries, with the help of the state which will put up between $3 and $4 for each $1 put up by the county, and for the laying of the foundation of a lateral road system that in a few years should be developed into one answering every purpose.

There are a few distinguishing features about this campaign that should commend it to every citizen. When the matter of good roads and a bond issue to finance them first was broached, the statement was made that no misrepresentation would be countenanced but that the fullest and most liberal discussion of the issues at stake would be indulged in; that the facts would be laid calmly and freely before the people so that they might decide for themselves whether or not the proposition was worth the money. The statement was made that if the people of the rural sections did not believe, after mature consideration, that the proposed improvement would be good for them, they should not be for it. There has been at no time any effort to employ high pressure methods. Arguments have been made but no clubs have been swung in an effort to make votes for the issue.

The campaign has been clean throughout. There has been a complete absence of personalities or of mudslinging or of pitting one citizen against another in an effort to swing votes. As was stated in the beginning, the issues have been laid before the people in complete detail. They have been given all the information that the committee in charge of the campaign could gather. Everything possible has been done to equip every citizen with all the data necessary for him to decide the matter for himself, doing justice both to his own interests and to those of his neighbors.

The indications are that the bond issue will be approved, though elections never are won until the last vote is counted. But regardless of how the election results this campaign has been of untold value to all the people of the county. The intangible barrier that too frequently separates town and country has been leveled in many cases during the last few weeks. Men and women of the country have learned that Bryan is not trying to put anything over on them but rather that we are so close together and so dependent on each other that we must stand together or fall—that if we are to prosper we must prosper as one big community because we cannot benefit at the expense of each other.

The better feeling that has been engendered, the closer acquaintance that has been developed and the knowledge that our most important problems, whether we live in Millican, or Rye, or in Bryan, are mutual and that we must work together for their satisfactory solution, all are bound to be important factors in a bigger development and healthier community growth than ever before has been recorded in this county. Breaking down these intangible barriers and making it clear that there can be no true prosperity for one section of the county at the expense of others is the most valuable work that has been accomplished in this county in many a long day.

No Early Increase in Taxes Expected

One of the questions that has been asked frequently, when the proposed bond issue for good roads in Brazos county is discussed, is when the interest payments on the bonds will begin. The usual answer is that these payments will not be due for at least one year and possibly two. By that time, it is pointed out, there is reason to believe the state will have adopted the plan of a state wide bond issue for the purpose of financing road construction, and that if this is done there will be no tax to pay on any of the bonds, except that part used to finance the lateral road improvement of the county and of course, those used to retire the present outstanding bonds on which interest already is being paid.

The experience of Madison county, as related Friday by State Representative H. A. Turner, gives reason to believe that the conditions set forth above as probable will really obtain in this county if the bond issue is approved, as now seems most likely. In that county bonds were voted about two years ago for good roads. The important project in which the people were interested was the paving of Highway No. 21. This week the state highway commission ordered this paving from the Navasota to the Trinity rivers and the work will be started shortly. The bonds issued by Madison county for this work have not been sold and no interest has been paid. Taxes for this purpose have not been levied and will not be until the bonds are sold and the money turned over to the highway commission.

In the case of Brazos county another reason exists why we may expect a delay of possibly two years, and perhaps for a longer period, before any taxes will be levied to pay interest and sinking fund charge on the proposed bond issue, except in the case of bonds sold for work to be done on the lateral roads of the county.

In conversation with Judge W. C. Davis recently R. S. Sterling, chairman of the state highway department, said that the state would spend its money first and that this county would not be called on for its participation in the cost of the state highways until this was absolutely necessary. There is here a prospect that the county may never be called on to sell bonds for this purpose, as the sentiment for a state bond issue for road purposes is growing rapidly and this may be approved by the people of Texas before the state highway commission gets to the point where the Brazos county share of the cost of building Highways Nos.

McLENNAN COUNTY

and the increase in volume of milk delivered to the plant by its patrons during the four months that the plant has been in operation.

It was decreased yields and cotton failures that brought farmers and business men in McLennan county to a state of "dairy-mindedness" according to Mr. Snider, and the location of milk processing plants in key cities of Texas is bringing many sections of the state into line with other areas in the South in interest and development along the line of combining the farm dairy herd with cotton and feed crops to establish a safer and more profitable program of farming for the South in general. The fact that farmers who milked a few cows and sold butter were invariably in better financial circumstances than the all cotton farmer brought all interests in McLennan county to realize that a program of farming which solved the problem of farm finance during adverse crop seasons should be even more profitable when crop conditions were favorable.

What has been accomplished to date in McLennan county in the way of dairy development was forcefully illustrated in the statements made by Mr. Snider, that 3 years ago, while considerable country butter was being marketed there, there was not a cream station in the town receiving either cream or milk from farm herds. The Borden plant received on its opening day last May, 8,300 pounds of milk. Deliveries during one day of the past week totaled 44,405 pounds, according to Mr. Snider.

The survey of dairy cows owned by prospective patrons of the Borden plant prior to its opening, showed a total of 800. Today the plant is receiving the production of some 1,500 cows and an average of 150 cows are being added to McLennan county herds every month, said Mr. Snider.

While the Borden plant offers employment at present to only about 40 workmen, it is delivering cream checks regularly to 850 farmers in Waco trade territory at the present time and the number of patrons served is increasing consistently. The volume of milk now being delivered to the Waco plant from surrounding farms requires the services of 18 trucks, and each truck has an average of 1,000 to 1,500 pounds of milk to collect daily. In this connection, Mr. Snider stressed the importance of an all weather road system and stated that the most disappointing experiences of either farmer patrons or the Borden plant to date had evolved about the circumstances arising when farmers left their milk at the side of the road to be picked up by trucks and the trucks got stuck in the mud and were unable to deliver the milk to the plant.

"It is the constant and certain income from milk that keeps the farmer satisfied and prosperous," said Mr. Snider, "and we anticipate in McLennan county that the practice of crop rotation and fertilization made possible by combining dairying with cotton farming, will ultimately increase the yield of cotton there rather than reducing it because of the dairying activity in that section." The instance of the farming section adjacent to Starkville, Miss., was cited by Mr. Snider to illustrate that in the course of three years of dairy development, that section has produced more cotton than it did in years prior to the dairy activity and in the same year, the value of the dairy products marketed there totaled about three times as much as that realized from the sale of cotton.

Prof. C. N. Shepherdson followed Mr. Snider in a brief discussion of the situation in Brazos county as regards production and marketing facilities. He urged that local farmers make the most of the dairy stock that they now possess, giving attention to proper feeding, breeding and marketing practices, and stated that the A. and M. College creamery will be glad to buy milk from Brazos county farmers during the winter months.

Visitors from Bryan and College who heard Mr. Snider in last night's address were: H. H. Williamson, Geo. W. Johnson, J. A. Clutter, C. N. Shepherdson, W. E. Leverkuhn, A. S. McSwain, D. J. McDonald, C. L. Beason, S. E. Eberstadt, Carl Wipprecht, Mrs. M. R. Bentley, Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Humbert and Director and Mrs. O. B. Martin.

6 and 21 in the county will be necessary for the completion of the work.

This phase of the matter, like every other, loses all or at least most of what have been thought objectionable features if the proposition is given sober thought and consideration. There is no question but that taxes for funds to pave state highways in this county will be deferred for one year, probably for two, and there is a growing reason to believe that if they are not levied in this period that the state will finance all this construction and the county will get this system of state roads without any additional taxation for this purpose.

This condition offers another reason why the program should be regarded as a first class business deal for the people of this county.

High Cost of Feeding Ticks Is Shown by Heavy Losses Suffered In Cattle Values in Louisiana

BY NELL BENTLEY

Just how much is it costing Brazos county annually to keep the fever ticks? Being a poor mathematician and lacking time and facility for making a detailed survey of the situation, I am going to answer honestly, "I don't know"; but here are some figures from Louisiana and I'll wager a dime to a doughnut they would fit the situation right here at home.

Government statistics fixed the average value per head of all cows and calves in the state of Louisiana in 1929 at $31.90. This was about $10 per head below the average value per animal for cows and calves in the group of South-central states of which Louisiana is considered a unit and on the 585,000 head of cattle listed in that state in 1928, represents a loss of approximately $5,850,000. The average value per head for cattle throughout the United States is $59.35, and considered on this basis the loss to Louisiana, a state that still has a heavy infestation of ticks, mounts still higher and grows even more serious.

Farmers and cattle raisers of this county might do a little figuring on their own hook and find out whether the animals on their farms and ranches are average, above average or below average. You may have a cow that as a family pet is worth more to you than a butcher or a breeder would actually pay for her, but generally speaking the things we possess are worth just what we can get for them in cold hard cash and live-stock ordinarily must be evaluated in cash terms the same as any other line of merchandise.

The fact that values per head for cattle increase consistently in areas where ticks have been eliminated and that average milk production records are also increased as soon as an area is free from tick infestation, leaves no room to doubt that the dairy industry never reaches a peak of efficiency and profit where farmers have to deal with tick infestation. This same statement will apply also to the beef cattle industry although the hazard and loss from ticks is probably less per animal over a year's period than in the case of dairy cattle.

More and more it becomes a recognized fact, that American agriculture depends ultimately for its success upon conservative policies and efficient management, which is the basis of success in all business and industry; while the fact that agriculture more than other industries and business is subject to the whims of weather and acts of providence, makes it all the more imperative that sound business management and not luck should be relied upon in every case where such may be exercised.

The first rule to be applied to any farming activity might well be this, "Never waste time and effort on a second class product." The first cost of good seed for instance may be greater than that of ordinary or poor seed, but if the yield per acre is increased by the use of first class seed then the use of low grade seed is in the end more costly than the price of high grade seed.

The poultry industry has within recent years proven a source of considerable increase in our national farm income. The profits from poultry raising, however, has been found to depend upon the yearly production and the net sales (profits). Checking poultry production records has revealed the fact that if a hen lays only 100 eggs per year, she returns a labor profit of but 76 cents. Birds producing from 100 to 140 eggs per year pay a labor return of about $2.19 each. While 180 eggs per year gives a return of about $2.50 per bird and the hen that lays more than 180 eggs per year pays an average return of about $3.20 a year. Poultry men who are in the business for real profits are setting a minimum of 200 eggs per year for their laying stock, while the record for birds bred for laying is now in the neighborhood of 330 eggs per year.

With these figures in mind, it should be a simple matter for farmers to check the laying records of their hens and if the flock is yielding less than 180 eggs per bird per year, then it should be evident that something is wrong and that the flock is probably worth more to eat or to be sold by the pound to a dealer than as egg producers.

It is the high cost of feeding scrub stock that makes ticks expensive to any county or any section where agriculture is the basis of progress and prosperity. No business man handling an average mercantile line would be satisfied with his business if it were running on a mere "break even" basis. He expects, and justly so, to realize a fair profit on his entire investment taking into consideration his stock of goods, his operating expense and his investment in building and equipment. Cash registers have taken the place of the old fashioned money till; adding and posting machines have taken the place of laborious hand entries in modern accounting systems and every item of merchandise which the farmer buys has been priced with due consideration for the cost of modern business equipment and modern business methods which makes use of telegraph, rapid delivery facilities and modern credit plans. No good business today is operated with inefficient labor, poor equipment or second class stock in trade.

If the farmer today must buy in a market where sales values are set in accordance with high speed sales methods, it is reasonable to suppose that he must apply modern efficiency methods to his farming operations. He must make every acre produce a record yield, every hen pay her board and a little more and every cow produce enough to justify any investment made in feed and labor. If his farm can be planted and cultivated at a lower cost per acre with a tractor and multiple row implements, then he must use that type of implements rather than negro labor and one row horse or mule drawn machinery.

If there is a farmer in Brazos county who is exhausting the fertility of his land without receiving a net annual income sufficient to represent the loss in sale value and productivity of the soil and a circumstance, sell out and quit or chant would do under the same circumstance some plan whereby he can make the game worth the candle.

The Bryan Press Company has asked the city commission for permission to close the alleys in City Blocks 107 and 108, where the new plant of the company is being erected.

As rangers redoubled efforts in search for clues, the possibility of martial law was considered. Some merchants protested the idea, but others said martial law would benefit the town in the end.

No statements were made by Calhoun or the rangers on the possibility of martial law but it was known that the prosecutor talked with Governor Moody by telephone from Amarillo yesterday.

Tenseness was indicated in many ways. A pawnshop which had fifty-six pistols of various caliber in its window the first of the week today carried only rifles and shotguns. A Clean Campaign

The final statement to the public from the good roads campaign committee, in the shape of formal publicity, is being made today in this issue of the Eagle. In this statement are given more than a score of reasons, all primarily good, why the bond issue and the good roads program should be supported.

This campaign is nearing its close. The issue will be decided Saturday when the residents of the county will go to the polls. At that time the voters will decide whether or not this county shall issue bonds in the sum of $1,100,000 for the building of two main arteries, with the help of the state which will put up between $3 and $4 for each $1 put up by the county, and for the laying of the foundation of a lateral road system that in a few years should be developed into one answering every purpose.

There are a few distinguishing features about this campaign that should commend it to every citizen. When the matter of good roads and a bond issue to finance them first was broached, the statement was made that no misrepresentation would be countenanced but that the fullest and most liberal discussion of the issues at stake would be indulged in; that the facts would be laid calmly and freely before the people so that they might decide for themselves whether or not the proposition was worth the money. The statement was made that if the people of the rural sections did not believe, after mature consideration, that the proposed improvement would be good for them, they should not be for it. There has been at no time any effort to employ high pressure methods. Arguments have been made but no clubs have been swung in an effort to make votes for the issue.

The campaign has been clean throughout. There has been a complete absence of personalities or of mudslinging or of pitting one citizen against another in an effort to swing votes. As was stated in the beginning, the issues have been laid before the people in complete detail. They have been given all the information that the committee in charge of the campaign could gather. Everything possible has been done to equip every citizen with all the data necessary for him to decide the matter for himself, doing justice both to his own interests and to those of his neighbors.

The indications are that the bond issue will be approved, though elections never are won until the last vote is counted. But regardless of how the election results this campaign has been of untold value to all the people of the county. The intangible barrier that too frequently separates town and country has been leveled in many cases during the last few weeks. Men and women of the country have learned that Bryan is not trying to put anything over on them but rather that we are so close together and so dependent on each other that we must stand together or fall—that if we are to prosper we must prosper as one big community because we cannot benefit at the expense of each other.

The better feeling that has been engendered, the closer acquaintance that has been developed and the knowledge that our most important problems, whether we live in Millican, or Rye, or in Bryan, are mutual and that we must work together for their satisfactory solution, all are bound to be important factors in a bigger development and healthier community growth than ever before has been recorded in this county. Breaking down these intangible barriers and making it clear that there can be no true prosperity for one section of the county at the expense of others is the most valuable work that has been accomplished in this county in many a long day.

No Early Increase In Taxes Expected

One of the questions that has been asked frequently, when the proposed bond issue for good roads in Brazos county is discussed, is when the interest payments on the bonds will begin. The usual answer is that these payments will not be due for at least one year and possibly two. By that time, it is pointed out, there is reason to believe the state will have adopted the plan of a state wide bond issue for the purpose of financing road construction, and that if this is done there will be no tax to pay on any of the bonds, except that part used to finance the lateral road improvement of the county and of course, those used to retire the present outstanding bonds on which interest already is being paid.

The experience of Madison county, as related Friday by State Representative H. A. Turner, gives reason to believe that the conditions set forth above as probable will really obtain in this county if the bond issue is approved, as now seems most likely. In that county bonds were voted about two years ago for good roads. The important project in which the people were interested was the paving of Highway No. 21. This week the state highway commission ordered this paving from the Navasota to the Trinity rivers and the work will be started shortly. The bonds issued by Madison county for this work have not been sold and no interest has been paid. Taxes for this purpose have not been levied and will not be until the bonds are sold and the money turned over to the highway commission.

In the case of Brazos county another reason exists why we may expect a delay of possibly two years, and perhaps for a longer period, before any taxes will be levied to pay interest and sinking fund charge on the proposed bond issue, except in the case of bonds sold for work to be done on the lateral roads of the county.

In conversation with Judge W. C. Davis recently R. S. Sterling, chairman of the state highway department, said that the state would spend its money first and that this county would not be called on for its participation in the cost of the state highways until this was absolutely necessary. There is here a prospect that the county may never be called on to sell bonds for this purpose, as the sentiment for a state bond issue for road purposes is growing rapidly and this may be approved by the people of Texas before the state highway commission gets to the point where the Brazos county share of the cost of building Highways Nos.

and the increase in volume of milk delivered to the plant by its patrons during the four months that the plant has been in operation.

It was decreased yields and cotton failures that brought farmers and business men in McLennan county to a state of "dairy mindness" according to Mr. Snider, and the location of milk processing plants in key cities of Texas is bringing many sections of the state into line with other areas in the South in interest and development along the line of combining the farm dairy herd with cotton and feed crops to establish a safer and more profitable program of farming for the South in general. The fact that farmers who milked a few cows and sold butter were invariably in better financial circumstances than the all cotton farmer brought all interests in McLennan county to realize that a program of farming which solved the problem of farm finance during adverse crop seasons should be even more profitable when crop conditions were favorable.

What has been accomplished to date in McLennan county in the way of dairy development was forcefully illustrated in the statements made by Mr. Snider, that 3 years ago, while considerable country butter was being marketed there, there was not a cream station in the town receiving either cream or milk from farm herds. The Borden plant received on its opening day last May, 8,300 pounds of milk. Deliveries during one day of the past week totaled 44,405 pounds, according to Mr. Snider.

The survey of dairy cows owned by prospective patrons of the Borden plant prior to its opening, showed a total of 800. Today the plant is receiving the production of some 1,500 cows and an average of 150 cows are being added to McLennan county herds every month, said Mr. Snider.

While the Borden plant offers employment at present to only about 40 workmen, it is delivering cream checks regularly to 850 farmers in Waco trade territory at the present time and the number of patrons served is increasing consistently. The volume of milk now being delivered to the Waco plant from surrounding farms requires the services of 18 trucks, and each truck has an average of 1,000 to 1,500 pounds of milk to collect daily. In this connection, Mr. Snider stressed the importance of an all weather road system and stated that the most disappointing experiences of either farmer patrons or the Borden plant to date had evolved about the circumstances arising when farmers left their milk at the side of the road to be picked up by trucks and the trucks got stuck in the mud and were unable to deliver the milk to the plant.

"It is the constant and certain income from milk that keeps the farmer satisfied and prosperous," said Mr. Snider, "and we anticipate in McLennan county that the practice of crop rotation and fertilization made possible by combining dairying with cotton farming, will ultimately increase the yield of cotton there rather than reducing it because of the dairying activity in that section." The instance of the farming section adjacent to Starkville, Miss., was cited by Mr. Snider to illustrate that in the course of three years of dairy development, that section has produced more cotton than it did in years prior to the dairy activity and in the same year, the value of the dairy products marketed there totaled about three times as much as that realized from the sale of cotton.

Prof. C. N. Shepherdson followed Mr. Snider in a brief discussion of the situation in Brazos county as regards production and marketing facilities. He urged that local farmers make the most of the dairy stock that they now possess, giving attention to proper feeding, breeding and marketing practices, and stated that the A. and M. College creamery will be glad to buy milk from Brazos county farmers during the winter months.

Visitors from Bryan and College who heard Mr. Snider in last night's address were: H. H. Williamson, Geo. W. Johnson, J. A. Clutter, C. N. Shepherdson, W. E. Leverkuhn, A. S. McSwain, D. J. McDonald, C. L. Beason, S. E. Eberstadt, Carl Wipprecht, Mrs. M. R. Bentley, Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Humbert and Director Mrs. O. B. Martin.

6 and 21 in the county will be necessary for the completion of the work.

This phase of the matter, like every other, loses all or at least most of what have been thought objectionable features if the proposition is given sober thought and consideration. There is no question but that taxes for funds to pave state highways in this county will be deferred for one year, probably for two, and there is a growing reason to believe that if they are not levied in this period that the state will finance all this construction and the county will get this system of state roads without any additional taxation for this purpose.

This condition offers another reason why the program should be regarded as a first class business deal for the people of this county.

BY NELL BENTLEY

Just how much it is costing Brazos county annually to keep the fever ticks? Being a poor mathematician and lacking time and facility for making a detailed survey of the situation, I am going to answer honestly, "I don't know"; but here are some figures from Louisiana and I'll wager a dime to a doughnut they would fit the situation right here at home.

Government statistics fixed the average value per head of all cows and calves in the state of Louisiana in 1929 at $31.90. This was about $10 per head below the average value per animal for cows and calves in the group of South-central states of which Louisiana is considered a unit and on the 585,000 head of cattle listed in that state in 1928, represents a loss of approximately $5,850,000. The average value per head for cattle throughout the United States is $59.35, and considered on this basis the loss to Louisiana, a state that still has a heavy infestation of ticks, mounts still higher and grows even more serious.

Farmers and cattle raisers of this county might do a little figuring on their own book and find out whether the animals on their farms and ranches are average, above average or below average. You may have a cow that as a family pet is worth more to you than a butcher or a breeder would actually pay for her, but generally speaking the things we possess are worth just what we can get for them in cold hard cash and livestock ordinarily must be evaluated in cash terms the same as any other line of merchandise.

The fact that values per head for cattle increase consistently in areas where ticks have been eliminated and that average milk production records are also increased as soon as an area is free from tick infestation, leaves no room to doubt that the dairy industry never reaches a peak of efficiency and profit where farmers have to deal with tick infestation. This same statement will apply also to the beef cattle industry although the hazard and loss from ticks is probably less per animal over a year's period than in the case of dairy cattle.

More and more it becomes a recognized fact, that American agriculture depends ultimately for its success upon conservative policies and efficient management, which is the basis of success in all business and industry; while the fact that agriculture more than other industries and business is subject to the whims of weather and acts of providence, makes it all the more imperative that sound business management and not luck should be relied upon in every case where such may be exercised.

The first rule to be applied to any farming activity might well be this, "Never waste time and effort on a second class product." The first cost of good seed for instance may be greater than that of ordinary or poor seed, but if the yield per acre is increased by the use of first class seed then the use of low grade seed is in the end more costly than the price of high grade seed.

The poultry industry has within recent years proven a source of considerable increase in our national farm income. The profits from poultry raising, however, has been found to depend upon the yearly production and the net sales profits. Checking poultry production records has revealed the fact that if a hen lays only 100 eggs per year, she returns a labor profit of but 76 cents. Birds producing from 100 to 140 eggs per year pay a labor return of about $2.19 each. While 180 eggs per year gives a return of about $2.50 per bird and the hen that lays more than 180 eggs per year pays an average return of about $3.20 a year. Poultry men who are in the business for real profits are setting a minimum of 200 eggs per year for their laying stock, while the record for birds bred for laying is now in the neighborhood of 330 eggs per year.

With these figures in mind, it should be a simple matter for farmers to check the laying records of their hens and if the flock is yielding less than 180 eggs per bird per year, then it should be evident that something is wrong and that the flock is probably worth more to eat or to be sold by the pound to a dealer than as egg producers.

It is the high cost of feeding scrub stock that makes ticks expensive to any county or any section where agriculture is the basis of progress and prosperity. No business man handling an average mercantile line would be satisfied with his business if it were running on a mere "break even" basis. He expects, and justly so, to realize a fair profit on his entire investment taking into consideration his stock of goods, his operating expense and his investment in building and equipment. Cash registers have taken the place of the old fashioned money till; adding and posting machines have taken the place of laborious hand entries in modern accounting systems and every item of merchandise which the farmer buys has been priced with due consideration for the cost of modern business equipment and modern business methods which makes use of telegraph, rapid delivery facilities and modern credit plans. No good business today is operated with inefficient labor, poor equipment or second class stock in trade.

If the farmer today must buy on a market where sales values are set in accordance with high speed sales methods, it is reasonable to suppose that he must apply modern efficiency methods to his farming operations. He must make every acre produce a record yield, every hen pay her board and a little more and every cow produce enough to justify any investment made in feed and labor. If his farm can be planted and cultivated at a lower cost per acre with a tractor and multiple row implements, then he must use that type of implements rather than negro labor and one row horse or mule drawn machinery.

If there is a farmer in Brazos county who is exhausting the fertility of his land without receiving a net annual income sufficient to represent the loss in sale value and productivity of the soil and a circumstance, sell out and quit or chant would do under the same circumstance some plan whereby he can make the game worth the candle.

city and county officers as the search for clues in the assassination of District Attorney John A. Holmes spread outside the immediate vicinity of this tumultuous oil town.

As rangers redoubled efforts in search for clues, the possibility of martial law was considered. Some merchants protested the idea, but others said martial law would benefit the town in the end.

No statements were made by Calhoun or the rangers on the possibility of martial law but it was known that the prosecutor talked with Governor Moody by telephone from Amarillo yesterday.

Tenseness was indicated in many ways. A pawnshop which had fifty-six pistols of various caliber in its window the first of the week today carried only rifles and shotguns. The proprietor, however, said, "I have sold more guns today than any other day." Then he corrected himself, "I mean shotguns and rifles."

Bryan City Schools Opened With
Enrollment of About 1,600; Talk
Is Made to Students by Barron

A burning desire and ambition for an education and a willingness to work early and late to gain one are the two prime requisites for the student who will not fail, according to W. S. Barron who addressed the high school students of Bryan yesterday in connection with the opening of the fall term of the city schools.

"There is no royal road to learning," said Mr. Barron. "Only that student will be successful in gaining a practical education that will be of real value in later years who has an overwhelming desire for knowledge and who is willing to work early and late, sacrificing pleasure and those other things which are of the moment only and which do not tend to build character or mental stamina.

"The chief value of your work here is not so much the facts you take away with you but the training you give your minds. An education might well be regarded as an acquired ability to use your mental machinery to the very best advantage. And only by hard and consistent work can you train your minds to function as they must if you are to make your mark in later years. Today there is keener competition in all lines of endeavor than ever before. More boys and girls are being trained in our educational institutions than ever before in the history of this country. Thus it is necessary, if you are to get to the top of the ladder, to strive more diligently now and to overlook no opportunity for the acquisition of knowledge and the training of your mental equipment."

The registration in the city school system according to Sept. 11, 1,600 and the largest on the opening day in the history of the city. In the next four to six weeks this number is expected to be increased to approximately 2,000.

The freshman class in the high school this year approximates 100, the largest in the history of the class. About 55 students, promoted from the lower grades in the city schools, have not yet been provided with accommodations at Stephen F. Austin high school and there is a crowded condition of more or less seriousness at the present time.

Exhibits to Dallas Fair

All club boys who expect to attend the Dallas Fair will have to send exhibits of corn, cotton, peanuts, etc., except club members having livestock work will not be required to send exhibits. Ten ears of corn, 20 bolls cotton or one gallon peanuts. Ask your county agent if you need help in preparing exhibits.

All club members making exhibits at the American Legion County Fair, October 31, November 1-2, will receive credit on reports, and these credits will not only help this year, but will also help next year when competing for trip to Washington, D. C. Don't neglect anything.

Fertilized Lands Pay

Arthur Yeager of Kurten reports that his fertilized cotton is yielding twice as much as the unfertilized cotton. His 4-H club report due soon will show relative cost of cotton on fertilized and unfertilized cotton.

Farmers Now Dusting In

Some farmers are now "dusting" in oats in cotton middles in order that when rain does come they will have early grazing and good winter cover crops, either of which will more than pay for the sowing. "Unless you sow, ye shall not reap."

Enter the Tomato Game

Interest in the tomato industry seems to be gaining headway in many sections of the country. As soon as report is made on the situation another meeting will be called for further consideration of the matter. Do you want to try an acre of tomatoes?

"The hope of the race lies with the boys. In a year or two we will be going to hear them preach from pulpits; we may go to them to borrow money; they may operate on us for appendicitis—aye, they may preach our funeral sermons. Nobody can prophesy the success to which a boy will attain. Difficulty, trial, hardship, these are the things that evolve boys into men. Boys can be led. They cannot be driven. Be patient with the boys. You are dealing with soul-stuff. Destiny awaits around the corner."

Improved Roads
Will Aid Farmer
Says Farm Woman

Mrs. J. M. McCalip, who lives on a farm near Fountain Switch, was a business visitor in Bryan today and expressed the opinion that citizens in that section are favorable to the bond issue which will be submitted for decision on September 28.

"It offers the best and surest way of improving market facilities for Brazos county farm products," said Mrs. McCalip, "and we are all aware of the fact that Brazos county farmers must find some source of income besides cotton if we hope to establish farm prosperity here."

"I am for the bond issue and will vote for it on Saturday, and in my judgment Tabor will vote in favor of the bond issue," said Mrs. R. C. Rudasill of Tabor, who with her young son, Ralph, were in Bryan today. "I don't hear much opposition to the bond election," she said.

AGED BRAZOS
WOMAN IS

PASSES AWAY ON SUNDAY
NIGHT AT HOME OF
HER SON

Mrs. Amelia Frances Thomas, the aged mother of W. R. Thomas of Bryan, passed away at the home of her son, on East Branch avenue, Sunday night at 11:30 o'clock, after a serious illness of only a few days. For many years she had been an invalid and confined to her home, but her last illness was short, and her passing was as gentle as the sleeping of a little child.

Through the years of her invalid suffering she made her home with her only surviving son, W. R. Thomas and family. Born in the state of Tennessee in 1843, she was 86 years, 5 months and 11 days of age at the time of her death. Her maiden name was Amelia Dawson and when she was twelve years of age she moved with her father's family from Tennessee to Crockett, where later she was married, and her two sons, Jesse Thomas and Will R. Thomas were born. The eldest son died twenty-five years ago, leaving only the one, W. R. Thomas, who with his family has been her comfort during her declining years. For the past forty-two years the family has resided in Bryan and a wide circle of true friends mourn today with them in this, their grief and bereavement.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the family home, with Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducting the services in the home and also at the grave in the Bryan city cemetery where interment was made. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Dansby Furniture Company.

The pallbearers were: D. Paul Dansby, Hiram T. Downard, John F. Ettle, Hendrix Conway, of Bryan; Rupert Brooks and Dr. L. J. Goree of Navasota.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends for the funeral this afternoon were Mrs. Sallie Thomas, Mrs. Howard Cavitt and Miss Winnie Thomas, all of Houston; Rupert Brooks and Dr. J. L. Goree of Navasota.

The Woman's Missionary Circles of the First Baptist church dispensed with their weekly meeting for the afternoon and the members attended the funeral of Mrs. Thomas in a body.

Hoyak House and
Contents Wholly
Destroyed by Fire

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hoyak between West 26th and 27th streets in the western part of the city was completely destroyed by fire together with its entire contents at about 3 o'clock on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyak left Bryan on Saturday afternoon to spend Sunday with relatives in Caldwell and there was no one in the house when the blaze started. Neighbors discovered the fire only after it had gained considerable headway and when the local fire department arrived nothing could be done further than to protect nearby buildings and prevent the spread of flames to other structures.

The origin of the fire remains entirely a mystery and the loss is partially covered by insurance.

Notice of intent to marry and application for a marriage license, was filed Monday with County Clerk Jess B. McGee by David Columbus and Jessie Lee Day, both of Brazos county, and Edward Moore and Miss S. T. Binfield, both of Caldwell.

BRIDGES ARE CERTAIN

For San Antonio Road
Says Sam Cavitt If
Bonds Carry

"We are going to get out on the line and help put over the bond issue in the election next Saturday," said Grady Hanover of the Macey section last night at the good roads meeting held at the Edge school. "We appreciate the fact that Bryan and the Chamber of Commerce are for the improvement of the San Antonio Road. At first we thought the people of Bryan were against this movement but by their actions we now know they are our friends and we are going through on this proposition."

Mr. Hanover, who has been vitally interested in the improvement of the Old San Antonio Road, had the impression early in the campaign for good roads in Brazos county that the improvement of Highway No. 21 would interfere with the improvement of the old trail. He has found that the two projects can best be served by united action, he says, and for this reason is for the bond issue.

In speaking of this matter at the meeting Sam Cavitt, who recently came out for the bond issue because he believes it is best for the improvement of the old trail, said, "Bryan and the Chamber of Commerce have proved to my satisfaction that they are for the Old San Antonio Road improvement and the state highway commission has assured us that the improvement of Highway No. 21 will not interfere with the improvement of the old trail. Not only will the bond issue be a good investment for all the country but it offers us the only way to make the old trail a first class highway. To do this we need bridges. The law providing for the survey and maintenance of the old trail does not say anything about bridges over the big and little Brazos rivers, but if we support the bond issue for Brazos county we will get these bridges for both Highway No. 21 and the old trail. I have every confidence that the survey now being made by G. C. Todd of the highway department will be properly made and maintenance will start as quickly as the right-of-way is obtained. I believe we are going to have a fine road here if we go to work on this bond issue and do our utmost to insure its adoption. We've got to have bridges."

The meeting at Edge was called to order by W. C. Hill. After a brief welcome he introduced Geo. A. Adams, who arranged for the meeting and who introduced John M. Lawrence as the chairman of the central citizens committee boosting the good roads program.

Mr. Lawrence made a short statement of the purpose of the meeting and then introduced Rev. J. J. Tatum. He said that he was for the bond issue, looking at the matter from every possible point of view and called on the people of Edge community to support it, telling them they would make a grave mistake, in his opinion, if they failed to do this.

County Judge A. S. McSwain was the next speaker and he told just how the $250,000 it is proposed to invest in lateral roads would be spent, and that $29,000 of this money would be invested in the Edge precinct. Judge McSwain assured his hearers that the money resulting from the bond issue would be invested just as the plan set forth in the election petition specifies.

County Commissioner Emmett Holland said that he believed that Bryan always had been for the improvement of the San Antonio trail as well as Highway No. 21 as the city wanted the two roads—in fact was in favor of good roads wherever they could be obtained. Mr. Holland called attention to the wonderful situation of Edge, with three roads to Bryan. Mr. Holland said that he was strongly for the bond issue.

George A. Adams urged good roads as necessary to the development of the community. He pointed to the good land in the vicinity of Edge and said that if good roads connected the territory with its largest market town good was bound to result. He urged the people to support the issue for their own immediate and future benefit.

Other speakers were W. S. Barron, F. L. Henderson and Judge W. C. Davis, who discussed the proposed program of good roads from all points of view.

A huge three tiered cake, bearing a "Good Roads" slogan in highly embossed letters and contributed to the cause by the Texas Bakery, was auctioned off for the benefit of the Edge school. Dr. L. O. Wilkerson obtained the cake, which was run up to $52 by S. E. Eberstadt, who acted as auctioneer.

Election Saturday To Decide Fate of
Bond Issue

FAVORABLE REPORTS

From All Sections of
County Made To
Committee

A huge mass meeting to be held in Main Street, at the corner of 25th, Friday night, will be the final rally of the good roads campaign which will be decided in the election to be held Saturday. On that day the people of Brazos county will go to the polls to vote as to whether or not the county shall issue bonds in the sum of $1,100,000 for the purpose of road improvement in this county.

Speakers for the big mass meeting, to which every citizen of the city is heartily invited, have not yet been chosen but General Chairman John M. Lawrence stated this morning that this announcement would be made in the next day or two.

The arrangements for the big street mass meeting were made yesterday at the weekly meeting of the good roads campaign committee and other routine work was discussed, especial attention being given to the matter of getting the vote out on Saturday.

Conditions Satisfactory

Reports were made by the various precinct committeemen and conditions were found satisfactory in all parts of the county. The consensus of opinion was that the bond issue would win by a majority in the county outside of Bryan and that the necessary two-thirds would be piled up in this city and at College Station.

From all reports there has been a weakening of the opposition to the issue in the past two weeks. In all cases, it is said, this has been due to the fact that voters have come to believe that the proposed road improvement would be a good thing for the whole county and have decided to support the bond issue.

Learn of Benefits

Typical of this change in front, it is pointed out, is the position of many citizens who are interested in the improvement of the Old San Antonio Road and who were opposed to the bond issue because they believed that the paving of Highway No. 21 would interfere with or hinder the improvement of the San Antonio Road. But they have learned that the improvement of Highway No. 21 will be a distinct benefit to the San Antonio Road in that the carrying of the bond issue Saturday will mean the construction of modern and permanent bridges over both the Big and Little Brazos rivers and that these may be used in connection with both roads. Permanent bridges are highly important in the improvement of the old road and the advocates of the improvement of this highway have found that the best way to get these bridges is to support the Brazos county bond issue.

It is said that in other sections of the county citizens have veered around from a position of opposition to the bond issue to one favoring it because sober consideration of facts and figures and a summing up of all benefits has convinced them that the proposed improvement is worth the money and that all sections of the county are bound to benefit.

There will be no meetings of importance on the road program until Friday night, but all members of the committee and many others interested in the program plan to work quietly during the week, to make sure that no effort is overlooked to pile up the largest possible majority for the issue.

Bryan City Schools Opened With
Enrollment of About 1,600; Talk
Is Made to Students by Barron

A burning desire and ambition for an education and a willingness to work early and late to gain one are the two prime requisites for the student who will not fail, according to W. S. Barron, who addressed the high school students of Bryan yesterday in connection with the opening of the fall term of the city schools.

"There is no royal road to learning," said Mr. Barron. "Only that student will be successful in gaining a practical education that will be of real value in later years who has an overwhelming desire for knowledge and who is willing to work early and late, sacrificing pleasure and those other things which are of the moment only and which do not tend to build character or mental stamina.

"The chief value of your work here is not so much the facts you take away with you but the training you give your minds. An education might well be regarded as an acquired ability to use your mental machinery to the very best advantage. And only by hard and consistent work can you train your minds to function as they must if you are to make your mark in later years. Today there is keener competition in all lines of endeavor than ever before. More boys and girls are being trained in our educational institutions than ever before in the history of this country. Thus it is necessary, if you are to get to the top of the ladder, to strive more diligently now and to overlook no opportunity for the acquisition of knowledge and the training of your mental equipment."

The registration in the city school system according to Supt. H. L. Durham, is approximately 1,600 and the largest in the history of the city. In the next four to six weeks this number is expected to be increased to approximately 2,000.

The freshman class in the high school this year approximates 100, the largest in the history of the class. About 55 students, promoting from the lower grades in the city schools, have not yet been provided with accommodations at Stephen F. Austin high school and there is a crowded condition of more or less seriousness at the present time.

Exhibits to Dallas Fair

All club boys who expect to attend the Dallas Fair will have to send exhibits of corn, cotton, peanuts, etc., except club members having livestock work will not be required to send exhibits. Ten ears of corn, 20 bolls cotton or one gallon peanuts. Ask your county agent if you need help in preparing exhibits.

Brazos County Fair

All club members making exhibits at the American Legion County Fair, October 31, November 1-2, will receive credit on reports, and these credits will not only help this year, but will also help next year when competing for trip to Washington, D. C. Don't neglect anything.

Fertilized Lands Pay

Arthur Yeager of Kurien reports that his fertilized cotton is yielding twice as much as the unfertilized cotton. His 4-H club report due soon will show relative cost of cotton on fertilized and unfertilized cotton.

Farmers Now Dusting In

Some farmers are now "dusting" in oats in cotton middles in order that when rain comes they will have early grazing and good winter cover crops, either of which will more than pay for the sowing. "Unless you sow, ye shall not reap."

Enter the Tomato Game

Interest in the tomato industry seems to be gaining headway in many sections of the country. As soon as report is made on the situation another meeting will be called for further consideration of the matter. Do you want to try an acre of tomatoes?

"The hope of the race lies with the boys. In a year or two we will be going to hear them preach from pulpits; we may go to them to borrow money; they may operate on us for appendicitis—aye, they may preach our funeral sermons. Nobody can prophesy the success to which a boy will attain. Difficulties, trial, hardship, these are the things that evolve boys into men. Boys can be led. They cannot be driven. Be patient with the boys. You are dealing with soul-stuff. Destiny awaits around the corner."

Will Aid Farmer
Says Farm Woman

Mrs. J. M. McKalip, who lives on a farm near Fountain Switch, was a business visitor in Bryan today and expressed the opinion that citizens in that section are favorable to the bond issue which will be submitted for decision on September 28.

"It offers the best and surest way of improving market facilities for Brazos county farm products," said Mrs. McKalip, "and we are all aware of the fact that Brazos county farmers must find some source of income besides cotton if we hope to establish farm prosperity here."

"I am for the bond issue and will vote for it on Saturday, and in my judgment Tabor will vote in favor of the bond issue," said Mrs. R. C. Rudasill of Tabor, with her young son, Ralph, were in Bryan today. "I don't hear much opposition to the bond election," she said.

AGED BRAZOS
WOMAN IS

NIGHT AT HOME OF

Mrs. Amelia Frances Thomas, the aged mother of W. R. Thomas of Bryan, passed away at the home of her son, on East Branch avenue, Sunday night at 11:30 o'clock, after a serious illness of only a few days. For many years she had been an invalid and confined to her home, but her last illness was short, and her passing was as gentle as the sleeping of a little child.

Through the years of her invalid suffering she made her home with her only surviving son, W. R. Thomas and family. Born in the state of Tennessee in 1843, she was 86 years, 5 months and 11 days of age at the time of her death. Her maiden name was Amelia Dawson and when she was twelve years of age she moved with her father's family from Tennessee to Crockett, where later she was married, and her two sons, Jesse Thomas and Will R. Thomas were born. The eldest son died twenty-five years ago, leaving only the one, W. R. Thomas, who with his family has been her comfort during her declining years. For the past forty-two years the family has resided in Bryan and a wide circle of true friends mourn today with them in this, their grief and bereavement.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the family home, with Rev. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducting the services in the home and also at the grave in the Bryan city cemetery where interment was made. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Dansby Furniture Company.

The pallbearers were: D. Paul Dansby, Hiram T. Downard, John F. Ettle, Hendrix Conway, of Bryan; Rupert Brooks and Dr. L. J. Goree of Navasota.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends for the funeral this afternoon were Mrs. Sallie Thomas Mrs. Howard Cavitt and Miss Winnie Brooks, all of Houston; Rupert Brooks and Dr. J. L. Goree of Navasota.

The Woman's Missionary Circles of the First Baptist church dispensed with their weekly meeting for the afternoon and the members attended the funeral of Mrs. Thomas in a body.

Hoyak House and
Contents Wholly
Destroyed by Fire

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hoyak between 26th and 27th streets in the western part of the city was completely destroyed by fire together with its entire contents at about 3 o'clock on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyak left Bryan on Saturday afternoon to spend Sunday with relatives in Caldwell and there was no one in the house when the blaze started. Neighbors discovered the fire only after it had gained considerable headway and when the local fire department arrived nothing could be done further than to protect nearby buildings and prevent the spread of flames to other structures.

The origin of the fire remains entirely a mystery and the loss is partially covered by insurance.

Notice of intent to marry and application for a marriage license, was filed Monday with County Clerk Jess B. McGee by David Columbus and Jessie Lee Day, both of Brazos county, and Edward Moore and Miss S. T. Binfield, both of Caldwell.

BRIDGES ARE CERTAIN

For San Antonio Road
Says Sam Cavitt If
Bonds Carry

"We are going to get out on the line and help put over the bond issue in the election next Saturday," said Grady Hanover of the Macey section last night at the good roads meeting held at the Edge school. "We appreciate the fact that Bryan and the Chamber of Commerce are for the improvement of the San Antonio Road. At first we thought the people of Bryan were against this movement but by their actions we now know they are our friends and we are going through on this proposition."

Mr. Hanover, who has been vitally interested in the improvement of the Old San Antonio Road, had the impression early in the campaign for good roads in Brazos county that the improvement of Highway No. 21 would interfere with the improvement of the old trail. He has found that the two projects can best be served by united action, he says, and for this reason is for the bond issue.

In speaking of this matter at the meeting Sam Cavitt, who recently came out for the bond issue because he believes it is best for the improvement of the old trail, said, "Bryan and the Chamber of Commerce have proved to my satisfaction that they are for the Old San Antonio Road improvement and the state highway commission has assured us that the improvement of Highway No. 21 will not interfere with the improvement of the old trail. Not only will the bond issue be a good investment for all the country but it offers us the only way to make the old trail a first class highway. To do this we need bridges. The law providing for the survey and maintenance of the old trail does not say anything about bridges over the big and little Brazos rivers, but if we support the bond issue for Brazos county we will get these bridges for both Highway No. 21 and the old trail. I have every confidence that the survey now being made by C. C. Todd of the highway department will be properly made and maintenance will start as quickly as the right-of-way is obtained. I believe we are going to have a fine road here if we go to work on this bond issue and do our utmost to insure its adoption. We've got to have bridges."

The meeting at Edge was called to order by W. C. Hill. After a brief welcome he introduced Geo. A. Adams, who arranged for the meeting and who introduced John M. Lawrence as the chairman of the central citizens committee boosting the good roads program.

Mr. Lawrence made a short statement of the purpose of the meeting and then introduced Rev. J. J. Tatum. He said that he was for the bond issue, looking at the matter from every possible point of view and called on the people of Edge community to support it, telling them they would make a grave mistake, in his opinion, if they failed to do this.

County Judge A. S. McSwain was the next speaker and he told just how the $250,000 it is proposed to invest in lateral roads would be spent, and that $29,000 of this money would be invested in the Edge precinct. Judge McSwain assured his hearers that the money resulting from the bond issue would be invested just as the plan set forth in the election petition specifies.

County Commissioner Emmett Holland said that he believed that Bryan always had been for the improvement of the San Antonio trail as well as Highway No. 21 as the city wanted the two roads—in fact was in favor of good roads wherever they could be obtained. Mr. Holland called attention to the wonderful situation of Edge, with three roads to Bryan. Mr. Holland said that he was strongly for the bond issue.

George A. Adams urged good roads as necessary to the development of the community. He pointed to the good land in the vicinity of Edge and said that if good roads connected the territory with its largest market town good was bound to result. He urged the people to support the issue for their own immediate and future benefit.

Other speakers were W. S. Barron, F. L. Henderson and Judge W. C. Davis, who discussed the proposed program of good roads from all points of view.

A huge three tiered cake, bearing a "Good Roads" slogan in highly embossed letters and contributed to the cause by the Texas Bakery, was auctioned off for the benefit of the Edge school. Dr. L. O. Wilkerson obtained the cake, which was run up to $52 by S. E. Eberstadt, who acted as auctioneer.

Among those present from Bryan were: Sam E. Cavitt, J. M. Dunn, Tyler Haswell, Dr. L. O. Wilkerson, Lamar Bethea, J. T. Maloney, Hugh Looney, Jack T. Johnson, Rev. J. J. Tatum, H. C. Fulgham, E. W. Crenshaw, Miss Willie Johnson, Dr. C. A. Searcy, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Martin, John M. Lawrence, Jr., T. C. Nunn Jr., Kay Halsell, George Ealsell, John S. Caldwell, George A. Adams, John M. FAVORABLE REPORTS

From All Sections of
County Made To
Committee

A huge mass meeting to be held in Main Street, at the corner of 25th, Friday night, will be the final rally of the good roads campaign which will be decided in the election to be held Saturday. On that day the people of Brazos county will go to the polls to vote as to whether or not the county shall issue bonds in the sum of $1,100,000 for the purpose of road improvement in this county.

Speakers for the big mass meeting, to which every citizen of the city is heartily invited, have not yet been chosen but General Chairman John M. Lawrence stated this morning that this announcement would be made in the next day or two.

The arrangements for the big street mass meeting were made yesterday at the weekly meeting of the good roads campaign committee and other routine work was discussed, especial attention being given to the matter of getting the vote out on Saturday.

Conditions Satisfactory

Reports were made by the various precinct committees and conditions were found satisfactory in all parts of the county. The consensus of opinion was that the bond issue would win by a majority in the county outside of Bryan and that the necessary two-thirds would be piled up in this city and at College Station.

From all reports there has been a weakening of the opposition to the issue in the past two weeks. In all cases, it is said, this has been due to the fact that voters have come to believe that the proposed road improvement would be a good thing for the whole county and have decided to support the bond issue.

Learn of Benefits

Typical of this change in front, it is pointed out, is the position today of many citizens who are interested in the improvement of the Old San Antonio Road and who were opposed to the bond issue because they believed that the paving of Highway No. 21 would interfere with or hinder the improvement of the San Antonio Road. But they have learned that the improvement of Highway No. 21 will be a distinct benefit to the San Antonio Road in that the carrying of the bond issue Saturday will mean the construction of modern and permanent bridges over both the Big and Little Brazos rivers and that these may be used in connection with both roads. Permanent bridges are highly important in the improvement of the old road and the advocates of the improvement of this highway have found that the best way to get these bridges is to support the Brazos county bond issue.

Much Quiet Effort
It is said that in other sections of the county citizens have veered around from a position of opposition to the bond issue to one favoring it because sober consideration of facts and figures and a summing up of all benefits has convinced them that the proposed improvement is worth the money and that all sections of the county are bound to benefit.

There will be no meetings of importance on the road program until Friday night, but all members of the committee and many others interested in the program plan to work quietly during the week, to make sure that no effort is overlooked to pile up the largest possible majority for the issue.

"If It's New, We Have It"

FINAL STATEMENT

By The Good Roads Campaign Committee

When the campaign for good roads in Brazos county was launched a few weeks ago, after months given to gathering information and data, it was stated that it would be conducted on the highest possible plane, with no attempt at misrepresentation but with full and frank statements concerning all phases of the proposition, and no attempts at high pressure methods. We believe that this pledge has been carried out. The campaign now nears its close. Saturday is election day. If you have been convinced that the proposed road improvement is worth the money it will cost; that it will be a good thing for all the people of the county, then go to the polls Saturday and vote for it.

Herewith are given some final reasons, summarizing most of the points made in the campaign, as to why you should be willing to support this issue:

It has been carefully thought out and planned.

It is worth the money it costs and is the best deal yet offered any county by the state highway commission.

It has been laid frankly before the citizenship. Every bit of information assembled is true and proven, and every possible effort has been made to acquaint all voters with every detail of the program.

It has been offered without a high pressure campaign.

It is an opportunity available now, that never may come again.

It has the endorsement of more than 3,000 residents of Brazos county, representing every class and interest.

It has in it the financial salvation of our people, being the first step necessary to make diversified farming, dairying, poultry raising and other agricultural activities profitable as these depend on good roads for success.

It will mean a broader market for the products of the county.

It benefits directly or indirectly every citizen of the county.

It means a step for progress from any point of view you consider it.

It will make possible the county-wide school plan, bound to come in this county.

It means a great deal to the great schools of Brazos county—members of the student bodies and their parents.

It increases taxes only by a small amount and when the state wide bond plan is adopted taxes in a great part of the county actually will be decreased.

It will not be necessary to levy any tax for a year, perhaps not for two years, to cover the bonds.

It will mean about 60 miles of concrete roads, in all four directions out of Bryan, and the foundations for a lateral road system that, with annual maintenance funds, will make possible very shortly a splendid all weather lateral road system in all sections of the county.

It will mean accessibility at all seasons to all sections of the county.

It means permanent accessibility to all sections of the state.

It will save you, in days to come, money on gasoline.

It will save you money in wear and tear on your autos and trucks.

It will save you time and temper.

It means we get our roads now, before the state takes over the entire system, and the great demand comes, rather than be compelled to wait for years before the paved highways are built.

It means more than $1,000,000 distributed during the next two or three years, that will be spent in this county on local labor—money put into circulation that will be of benefit to everyone.

It means employment for surplus labor and equipment of our own citizenship.
